CEF Champions
2016-2017 Impact Report
Dear “Class of 2017”,

Thank you for making our 30th anniversary year one to remember. We hope that you will enjoy this “yearbook”, and will be as pleased and proud as we are of the things we have accomplished together this past year. We could not be more passionate about the work that we do at CEF. And we know very well that we could not do it without all of you…our amazing CEF Champions.

By all accounts, 2016-2017 was a really good year at CEF. From providing tuition awards to over 9,000 of the most financially deserving elementary and high school students attending Catholic schools within the three-county Archdiocese of Los Angeles, to hosting a memorable and successful 30th anniversary dinner on the floor of the Rose Bowl Stadium, the year was all about highlighting and celebrating our CEF scholars and donors. This is because we know, as do all of you, that behind all the numbers and statistics that we present in this report, there are incredible and inspiring stories about overcoming significant obstacles and achieving extraordinary success.

On behalf of the board and staff of CEF, we thank you for being true champions for the life-changing opportunity that a Catholic education can provide. We hope that you will continue to invest in our mission, and will invite others to get to know us and the work we do. Together we are Building Communities, Changing Lives, Funding Futures.

With sincere gratitude,

Tim Smith
President

Kathleen Ash
Executive Director
CEF is primarily committed to providing tuition assistance to the most financially deserving students attending Catholic schools within the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

This report highlights the programs, activities, and impact made possible through the leadership and financial resources provided by CEF. Our commitment is to work together to build communities, change lives, and fund futures.

Tuition Awards Program (TAP)

The core program at the Catholic Education Foundation (CEF) is our Tuition Awards Program (TAP). It is central to our mission and the foundation of our work. The program currently provides $1,000 per student in grades Pre-K to 8 and $2,000 per student in grades 9 to 12 each academic year. Students receiving these tuition awards apply every year and qualify because of financial need. In 2016-2017 CEF supported 9,024 CEF Scholars at 216 Catholic elementary and high schools in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. For more details about our CEF Scholars see our Impact center-fold.

Save Our Students Program (SOS)

The SOS Program is a donor-designated program that was created in 1998 for economically disadvantaged students identified as severely “at-risk.” Students who are selected to receive SOS funding meet one or more at-risk factors and face extreme economic, social, and personal circumstances. CEF works hard to connect with school principals to identify SOS students. In addition to receiving TAP awards, SOS students receive an extra $500 for tuition, increasing the total value of each award to $1,500 per student in grades Pre-K to 8 and $2,500 per student in grades 9 to 12.

Sports Equipment Program

Since 2006, CEF has received donor-designated funding to support athletic programs at under-resourced elementary schools within the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. The Sports Equipment Program enables two schools per year to purchase new sports and playground equipment, buy team uniforms, and/or subsidize coaching, referee, and Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) fees.

Visual Arts Program

In 2006, CEF began to collaborate with Art Trek, a non-profit organization that provides quality arts training to schools and the community. Art Trek educators visit Catholic schools and provide teacher training and/or on-site instruction classes.

Big Yellow Bus Program

The Big Yellow Bus Program is complementary to CEF’s enrichment programs and events. It provides bus transportation for students to attend and participate in CEF events and activities, in addition to other social and cultural events across Los Angeles.
Jasmine Mora – Class of 2002

Jasmine Mora's parents emigrated from Mexico and struggled to afford Catholic school tuition. CEF was able to assist the Mora family, which allowed Jasmine and her sister, Elizabeth, to continue their education. Jasmine attended Mary Star of the Sea High School in San Pedro and UC Berkeley. After graduating with her bachelor's degree, she returned to work at CEF and teach at Catholic schools within the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

Jasmine decided to take a different path as she wanted to affect change on a larger scale. She moved to Washington D.C. to work on Capitol Hill and began to work on various campaigns. While in D.C., she served as the Communications Director for the Congressional Hispanic Caucus advocating for the Latino community. After six years, she returned to Los Angeles to work for Airbnb managing public affairs. Jasmine continues to be a recurring donor to CEF and strong believer that CEF is changing lives.

Luis Marquez - Class of 1994

Luis Marquez is the first in his family to attend a Catholic high school. Getting to Bishop Mora Salesian High School was never an easy task. It would take him an hour and a half to catch two different buses to get to school. However, once he stepped foot on the campus, he felt safe and secure.

His family struggled financially but he received tuition assistance from CEF. Luis put all his time and energy into school, taking AP classes and playing sports. Salesian was his community away from home and a turning point in his life. He went on to graduate from Georgetown University. There he majored in Political Science and minored in Theology. He graduated in 1999 and decided the next logical step was to become a teacher at Salesian. After 11 years of teaching and coaching, he decided to take the next step and work for the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, including three years at CEF.

As principal, everyday is a homecoming; I am reminded of my own days as a student whenever I encounter students roaming the halls or trading their food at lunch. I work daily to keep the same doors of opportunity open for my boys as they were opened for me, so that one day they too will do the same for their Salesian brothers.

Alex Chacon - Class of 1994

Alex Chacon is a fine example of how Catholic education changes lives. He attended Santa Teresa School and went on to attend Bishop Mora Salesian High School. Attending a Catholic school was a sacrifice, however, his parents knew it was the right place for him to be.

While at Salesian, he excelled in the classroom and was involved in extracurricular activities and athletics. His family moved to South Los Angeles which meant a long bus ride to get to Salesian. Not long after the move, his father found himself out of work. This is when the Catholic Education Foundation was able to help the Chacon family with a CEF award.

Alex went on to graduate from Salesian, receive a degree in English and Theology from Georgetown University, and a Masters in Educational Administration from Loyola Marymount University. After many years of working in Catholic education, Alex has returned to Salesian High School as Principal.

Nataly Quintero – Class of 2009

Nataly Quintero was born and raised in Boyle Heights. Despite the family’s challenges, Nataly’s parents always believed she would achieve her dreams.

Nataly attended Doloros Mission School and went on to Sacred Heart of Jesus High School in Lincoln Heights. Her family encountered financial difficulties but with the assistance from CEF, Nataly was able to continue her Catholic education.

Nataly attended Doloros Mission School and went on to Sacred Heart of Jesus High School in Lincoln Heights. Her family encountered financial difficulties but with the assistance from CEF, Nataly was able to continue her Catholic education. With perseverance and dedication, she went on to graduate from Sacred Heart high school and Santa Clara University. She now works at Doloros Mission Church and School as the High Schools Scholars Program Administrator.

I am forever indebted to your generosity. I was a CEF recipient for at least ten years and thank you for your continuous support. Had it not been for the Catholic Education Foundation, I would’ve never applied, attended and graduated with a degree.
In May of 2017, CEF held its 30th Anniversary dinner, Celebrating CEF Champions, on the floor of the iconic Rose Bowl stadium in Pasadena. It was a unique and special evening, bringing together more than 500 CEF “fans” and supporters, who all believe that a Catholic education provides an advantage for life. CEF presented awards to two CEF Champions at the event. Dr. Mario Molina received the Cornerstone of the Community award and Mr. Alex Chacon received the Keystone of the Community award. A highlight of the evening was our student speaker, Jordan, who shared his amazing personal story and described how CEF’s support has made an impactful difference in his life and on his future.

In 2015-2016, John and Dorothy Shea, long-time CEF supporters, took the lead on an extraordinary multi-year $10 million dollar effort to help support the ongoing tuition assistance needs of thousands of financially deserving Catholic school children in Los Angeles. They challenged CEF to raise $5 million dollars in multi-year gifts and pledges, and they agreed to match those gifts and pledges dollar-for-dollar.

In June of 2017, CEF successfully completed the Shea Challenge, and identified six Shea Challenge participants: Stephanie and Peter Nolan Foundation, the Thomas and Dorothy Leavey Foundation, the Conrad N. Hilton Foundation, the CEF Hispanic Leadership Advisory Board, the Fama Family Charitable Fund, and the Caruso Family Foundation.

The Shea Challenge is a major accomplishment for CEF, and is central to our fundraising strategy going forward. Having this baseline of annual commitments over the next several years will allow us to focus on cultivating new individual, corporate, and foundation gifts, and will also help us to have more time to work on re-engaging former donors, and in energizing our existing donors.

In the last quarter of 2016-2017, building on the spirit and momentum of the Shea Challenge and our 30th anniversary, an anonymous donor launched another exciting matching gift challenge for CEF. The intent of the New Donor Challenge (NDC) is to encourage and incentivize new donors to CEF, as well as to re-engage and re-energize former donors who have not given for the past five years.

The New Donor Challenge (NDC) applies to gifts of $10,000 and $100,000 dollars, from individuals, corporations and foundations, and is a very special opportunity to double the impact of these important gifts to CEF. The NDC donor will match, dollar-for-dollar, up to $500,000 in gifts over the next two years, generating $1 million dollars in funding for CEF.

In 2016-2017, we received $30,000 in eligible gifts from three “CEF Champions”, resulting in $60,000 of funding. In 2017-2018 we are confident that we will be able to use this challenge as a springboard for even greater success.

A Message From the Chairman
Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

This year marks the 30th anniversary of the Catholic Education Foundation of Los Angeles.

The foundation was created with the simple and beautiful goal of serving our children, with the hope of providing every child with the opportunity to receive a Catholic education, regardless of their family’s economic means.

In these past 30 years, we have achieved amazing results — with God’s grace and your support.

Our children are the future leaders of our community. They are the ones who will continue to walk with Jesus Christ and change the world. The Catholic Education Foundation is here to provide these future leaders with the opportunity they need.

Our Catholic schools provide students with an educational experience that combines superior academics, a strong community of faith, and virtues and values rooted in the Gospel.

I cannot begin to express how grateful I am to you and all those who have supported the Catholic Education Foundation over these past 30 years. You are vital partners — without you we cannot continue. So, on behalf of the thousands of children you have helped to educate over these years, I want to thank you. You are providing these young people with hope, opportunity, and the chance at a better life.

Please join me in celebrating God’s blessings over these past 30 years, by continuing your generous support of the Catholic Education Foundation.

May God bless you for your love and I entrust you and your families to the tender care of our Blessed Mother Mary.

May God grant you peace and joy,

Most Reverend José H. Gomez
Archbishop of Los Angeles
